

ABSTRACT

A medical care provider provides a network gateway with descriptions of frequently prescribed medical devices thereon. A patient may access the gateway and use the gateway to facilitate the purchase of a prescribed medical device. The gateway communicates through an e-commerce provider to a medical supply vendor to arrange for the shipping of the purchased medical device and arrange for payment thereto.